Canada

Canadian bonds followed a similar pattern to the US bond market but underperformed the US and most other global bond markets in aggregate. It was quite volatile throughout the period, driven by alternating concerns about inflation and the economy.

The 10-year government bond yield was largely unchanged over the reporting year, opening and closing at around 2.9%. It had risen above 3.5% on occasions, marking the highest level since 2011, as inflation rose and appeared to become more entrenched. Similarly, to the US, short rates rallied more than mid-term and long-term rates. The two-year yield rose from about 2.7% to 3.7% over the period, peaking at over 4% on occasion, marking a 16-year high, and ensuring that the yield curve was inverted from July – an indication that a recession is likely.

The annual rate of inflation in Canada hit a peak of 8.1% in June 2022, a 40-year high, before easing in the ensuing months and touching 4.3% in March, the lowest rate since August 2021. Favourable base effects were a key reason behind the fall in headline inflation as previously soaring energy costs, especially gasoline, began to go into reverse.

Having raised interest rates in early March 2022 for the first time in the cycle, following the example of the US Federal Reserve, the Bank of Canada ("BoC") raised rates a further seven times, taking them from 1.0% in May to 4.25% in January. However, the central bank kept rates unchanged at both its March and April policy meetings given headline inflation had fallen and as it judged that the current level of rates was restrictive enough to keep inflation under control, while not choking off economic growth. The BoC currently expects inflation to return to its 2% target by the end of 2024.

Gross domestic product's growth slowed over the period on a quarterly basis. The economy was flat quarter on quarter in the final quarter of 2022. This followed growth of 0.8% in the second quarter and 0.6% in the third. While consumer spending and exports picked up in the final quarter of 2022, inventories and fixed capital formation declined. Employment trends remained positive. Having pushed higher in the summer of 2022, hitting 5.4% in August, unemployment fell to 5% by December, where it remained for the following three months.

HSBC Canadian Dollar Liquidity Fund

During the period the sub-fund stayed short in an effort to meet breakeven expectations for future rate hikes. The one-week liquidity bucket was consistently over 50% and at times over 60%.

Throughout the entire period the sub-fund kept a short weighted average maturity and weighted average life often 25 days and in. The most common trade was rolling maturities close to the next BoC meeting date with the expectation of being compensated for the most recent rate hike that was realized.

The sub-fund maintained high levels of liquidity and allocation to government securities. Under normal conditions the sub-fund keeps 30-40% in overnight time depos. The amount of Canadian T-bills held fluctuated mostly from 15%-35%. Overall, paper was scarce and name diversification was difficult. Due to the highly uncertain times the sub-fund had relied mostly on reverting to the most basic principles of safety, liquidity and then yield to the extent possible.

Manager's Report for the year ended April 30, 2023

The United Kingdom

UK bonds fell substantially over the year to 31 March 2023 as inflation rose and the Bank of England ("BoE") responded with a series of consecutive interest rate hikes. The UK gilt market markedly underperformed other global government bond markets as gilt yields rose relatively more, reflecting higher inflation levels in the UK and a volatile political backdrop that featured a double change in prime minister during a very short period. UK corporate bonds also fell but did relatively better than government bonds as investors became more risk tolerant in the second half of the period.

The 10-year yield rose to over 4.4% in the autumn, marking its highest level in 14 years, and up from approximately 1.9% at the beginning of the period. By the end of the reporting year, the yield had fallen back to approximately 3.7%. The yield spread between two-year and 10-year gilts inverted in the late summer. The inversion expanded to a negative spread of almost 30 basis points ("bps") in February but had recovered to -6 bps by the end of the period. An inverted yield curve is often seen as an indicator of economic recession.

Annual inflation rose sharply, reaching 11.1% in October, marking the highest level for over 40 years. As inflation rose and appeared to become more entrenched, the BoE became more hawkish. The central bank raised interest rates at every policy meeting throughout 2022, taking them from 0.75% to 4.25% over the period. Its 25 bps increase in March was its eleventh consecutive hike. The BoE had suggested that inflation could rise to more than 13% by the end of 2022 – although it had fallen back to 10.1% in March, having risen to 10.4% in February as food price inflation escalated – while forecasting an economic recession from late 2022 until early 2024.

Economic conditions continued to worsen over the period. The economy barely grew on a quarterly basis in the final three quarters of the year. However, there were mild signs of recovery towards the end of the reporting year and increased optimism that the UK could avoid a recession in 2023 – one that had been predicted by the BoE and the International Monetary Fund in the second half of 2022. Unemployment fell to 3.5% in the three months to September – the lowest rate since 1974 – before finishing at 3.7% in the three months to January. Wages rose in nominal terms but were down in real terms.

HSBC Sterling Liquidity Fund, HSBC Sterling ESG Liquidity Fund

Throughout the first semester, the Investment Manager managed the sub-funds with a low to neutral weighted average maturity ("WAM"). This enabled us to take advantage of the rate hikes, which shortened the pass through to the sub-funds in terms of gross yield. We also looked to add the portion of Sonia linked securities when we felt that the offered margin compensated the sub-fund. Subsequently, the gap between WAM and weighted average life increased gradually through the first semester.

In late September, the Investment Manager shortened investments to just one-week maximum after the turmoil wrought in Sterling markets by the announcements made in the budget by the Liz Truss Government. This saw WAM decrease to just 17 days for the HSBC Sterling Liquidity Fund and 16 days for the HSBC Sterling ESG Liquidity Fund. The Investment Manager slowly lifted temporary investment restrictions as calm was gradually restored to Sterling markets following the introduction of liquidity measures by the BoE and the appointment of a new Prime Minister.

In the latter half of the period under review, we have largely maintained our policy of running the sub-funds with a low to neutral WAM. We added some longer dated fixed rate positions to the sub-funds when compensated for doing so. As concerns surrounding US regional banks and Credit Suisse came to the fore in March, the Investment Manager decided to shorten investments and build liquidity buffers above our usual targets. Once again, this led to WAM decreased to mid-teen levels before gradually moving higher as investments were cautiously extended.

Manager's Report for the year ended April 30, 2023

The United States

The US bond market fell and yields rose over the period as the US Federal Reserve ("Fed") raised interest rates in an effort to bring inflation back under control. The US 10-year Treasury yield peaked at over 4.2% in October – its highest level for 15 years. It declined thereafter, finishing the period at around 3.4% (having begun the year at around 3.1%). The market was notably volatile through most of the reporting year as hawkish sentiment vied with dovish sentiment, and investors carefully scrutinised every word coming from the Fed. Short rates soared even more, hitting 5% in early March, before dropping precipitously to end the period at just over 4% (from a beginning level of 2.7%). The yield curve became inverted from July – most significantly between two-year and 10-year Treasuries – which is often regarded as a precursor to a recession. The inversion, which had grown to 100 bps in March, was the widest seen in the US government bond market since the early 1980s, although it had contracted somewhat by the end of the period.

Rising inflation was the key factor influencing the market. The idea that higher inflation was just a temporary factor evaporated as the headline rate rose to a 40-year high of 9.1% in June 2022, before moderating thereafter, falling in the nine successive months to 5.0% in March. The rise in inflation largely reflected spiralling energy costs, especially gasoline. Inflationary pressures prompted the Fed to raise interest rates to a 15-year high of 5.0% by the end of the period, including four successive 75 bps rises for the first time in the Fed's history. Fed officials indicated that the central bank would need to continue to increase interest rates to stamp out inflation, even at the expense of causing economic contraction. However, in 2023, there were growing hopes among investors that the Fed would ease back on its monetary tightening, encouraged by a softening in the tone of statements emanating from the central bank, even though the Chairman of the Fed Jerome Powell insisted that rates would likely stay higher for longer and would not be lowered during 2023.

The economy fell into recession in the first half of 2022 as a first-quarter annualised fall of 1.6% was followed by one of 0.6% in the second quarter. However, it recovered in the third and fourth quarters, growing by 3.2% and 2.6%, respectively. It had slowed to 1.1% growth in the first quarter of 2023. Job creation remained relatively robust, and the unemployment rate stayed close to generational lows. The US dollar surged to an over 20-year high in September following the Fed's monetary policy tightening but fell back thereafter.

HSBC US Dollar Liquidity Fund, HSBC US Treasury Liquidity Fund

In terms of fund strategy, the Investment Manager was focused on seeking opportunities in floating rate notes ("FRNs"), to provide insurance against any earlier larger-than-anticipated rate increases. There was an increased risk of a 50 bps rate hike in March, rather than the 25 bps hike previously anticipated. The WAM remained around 50 days, whilst the weighted average life ("WAL") also remained steady at 70 days.

Given the geopolitical situation and the uncertainly that this created, it will come as no surprise that the Investment Manager's strategy had been to be very prudent when investing. The priority had been to build up both daily and weekly liquidity on the sub-funds. This strategy has also left us well positioned during the Fed's rate hiking cycle. We continued to seek opportunities in FRNs, to provide insurance against any earlier larger-than-anticipated rate increases. Both WAM and WAL decreased steadily during the first quarter of 2023.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the Board of Directors of HSBC Corporate Money Funds Limited

Opinion

We have audited the financial statements of HSBC Corporate Money Funds Limited (comprised of Canadian Dollar Fund, Sterling Fund, Sterling ESG Fund, US Dollar Fund, and the US Dollar Treasury Fund) (the "Company"), which comprise the statements of assets and liabilities, including the statements of net assets as of April 30, 2023, and the related statements of operations and changes in net assets for the year then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of April 30, 2023, and the results of its operations for the year then ended in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAS"). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We are required to be independent of the Company and to meet our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements relating to our audit. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Responsibilities of management for the financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles, and for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is required to evaluate whether there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern for one year after the date that the financial statements are available to be issued.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not absolute assurance and therefore is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with GAAS will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control. Misstatements are considered material if there is a substantial likelihood that, individually or in the aggregate, they would influence the judgment made by a reasonable user based on the financial statements.

In performing an audit in accordance with GAAS, we:

- Exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit.
- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, and design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks. Such procedures include examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, no such opinion is expressed.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluate the overall presentation of the financial statements.
- Conclude whether, in our judgment, there are conditions or events, considered in the aggregate, that raise substantial doubt about the Company's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time.

We are required to communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit, significant audit findings, and certain internal control related matters that we identified during the audit.

Other information

Management is responsible for the other information included in the annual report. The other information comprises the information included in the annual report from pages 1 to 6 but does not include the financial statements and our auditor's report thereon. Our opinion on the financial statements does not cover the other information, and we do not express an opinion or any form of assurance thereon.

In connection with our audit of the financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the financial statements, or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying financial statements are prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("U.S. GAAP"). The Company meets the typical characteristics of an investment company and is therefore applying the accounting and reporting guidance under Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification ("FASB ASC") Topic 946, Financial Services – Investment Companies.

The significant accounting and reporting polices adopted by the Company are as follows:

Investment transactions and income

(a) Investment transactions are recorded on the trade date basis.

(b) Valuation of investments

Investments are valued at fair value. Investments in money market funds are valued based on reported net asset value per share as provided by the administrators of the money market funds.

In accordance with U.S. GAAP, fair value is defined as the price that the Company would receive to sell an asset or pay to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Accounting guidelines for fair value measurements establishes a framework for measuring fair value using a three-level hierarchy for fair value measurements based upon the transparency of inputs to the valuation of an asset or liability. Inputs may be observable or unobservable and refer broadly to the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability Doservable inputs reflect the assumptions market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability based on market data obtained from sources independent of the Company. Unobservable inputs reflect the Company's own assumptions about the inputs that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability developed based on the best information available in the circumstances. Each investment is assigned a level based upon the observability of the inputs which are significant to the overall valuation. The three-tier hierarchy of inputs is summarized below:

- Level 1 observable prices and quoted prices in active markets for identical investments that the fund is able to access
- Level 2 other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar investments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.)
- Level 3 significant unobservable inputs (including the Company's own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments)

The inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurements falls in its entirety is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement. Investment in other Investment Funds are measured using net asset value as a practical expedient are not categorized within the fair value hierarchy.

(c) Allocation of profits and losses

All investment income, realized and unrealized gains and losses of each Fund are allocated to each class of shares outstanding on a daily basis in proportion to their interest in the net asset value of the Fund.

(d) Interest income

Interest income is recorded on the accruals basis.

(e) Expenses

The Company bears all operating expenses which are allocated between all the Funds in proportion to the respective net asset value of each Fund unless the expense is solely attributable to a specific Fund.

(f) Use of estimates

Preparing financial statements in accordance with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions in determining the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, including the fair value of investments, and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities as of the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

for the year ended April 30, 2023

2. Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

(g) Foreign currency translation

Assets and liabilities denominated in currencies other than the base currency of each Fund are translated into the base currency at the rate prevailing at the reporting date. Transactions during the year in currencies other than the base currency have been translated at the rate of exchange prevailing on the respective date of the transaction.

(h) Dividend income

Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date and is presented net of withholding tax.

(i) Financial instruments

The fair values of securities of the Company's assets and liabilities which qualify as financial instruments under U.S. GAAP approximates the carrying amounts presented in the statement of assets and liabilities due to their short-term nature.

(j) Capital redemption Payable

Redemptions are recognized as liabilities when the amount requested in the redemption notices becomes fixed, which generally occurs on the last day of a fiscal quarter. As a result, redemptions paid after the end of the year, based on the NAV of the Fund at year-end, are included in redemptions payable at April 30, 2023. Redemption notices received for which the dollar amount is not fixed remain in net assets until the net asset values used to determine the redemption and share amounts are determined.

ASU 2020-04, Facilitation of the Effects of Reference Rate Reform on Financial Reporting

On March 12, 2020, the FASB has issued the Accounting Standard Update 2020-04 by adding Topic 848, Reference Rate Reform. The amendments in this Update are elective and apply to all entities, subject to meeting certain criteria, that have contracts, hedging relationships, and other transactions that reference LIBOR or another reference rate expected to be discontinued because of reference rate reform. The amendments in this Update provide optional expedients and exceptions for applying generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP) to contracts, hedging relationships, and other transactions affected by reference rate reform if certain criteria are met.

The amendment is applicable only to contracts, hedging relationships, and other transactions that reference LIBOR or another reference rate expected to be discontinued because of reference rate reform. 12. Financial Instruments and Associated Risks

Price Risk

Price risk arises primarily from uncertainty around the future prices of financial instruments held by the Company and represents the loss the Company might incur through holding such instruments in the face of price movements. The Manager allocates the Company's portfolio of investments with a view to minimizing the risk associated with particular countries and industry sectors. Each Fund's overall market position is monitored on a daily basis by the Manager.

Currency Risk

The investments of each Fund are denominated in the related base currency. Therefore, the Funds are not subject to significant currency risk.

Interest Rate Risk

The Company is exposed to interest rate risk to the extent that the fair value of the Company's financial instruments may fluctuate with movements in interest rates.

Liquidity Risk

The Company invests in certain sub-funds of HSBC Global Liquidity Funds Plc ("HSBC GLF") and BNY Mellon Liquidity Funds Plc ("BNY MLF") which provide daily redemptions. The Company may invest in debt securities that are not publicly traded or for which there is no liquid market. The Company is exposed to liquidity risk to the extent that it is unable to realize its positions to meet liabilities and redemptions as they fall due (see also note 10). The Manager manages liquidity risk by maintaining sufficient liquid assets to meet liabilities and redemptions as they fall due.

Credit Risk

Financial assets that potentially expose the Company to credit risk consist primarily of cash, investments, interest and dividends receivable and accounts receivable. The extent of the Company's exposure to credit risk in respect of these financial assets approximates the carrying values as recorded in the statements of assets and liabilities. Credit risk is managed by dealing with reputable counterparties.

COVID - 19 Risk

The risk related to a novel coronavirus known as COVID-19 has declined significantly since last year. On May 5th of this year the World Health Organization declared it was ending the Covid global health emergency however it is still recognized that the virus could flare up in the future. With the decline in infections we have seen supply chains, consumer demand and travel either come close to or surpass levels prior to the onset of the virus in 2020

Situation in Ukraine

Management acknowledges the situation in Ukraine continues to affect global economics, particularly regarding food and energy supplies. We continue to monitor the developments closely and have no direct allocation to either the Ukraine or Russia, however, there remains a high level of uncertainty regarding the effects of the conflict on global markets overall and as such on the funds.

Investments in Other Investment Funds

The investments in other investment funds (the "investee funds") are valued using the net asset values provided by the underlying investment companies as a practical expedient. The Fund applies the practical expedient to its investee funds on an investment-by-investment basis and consistently with the Fund's entire position in a particular investment, unless it is probable that the Fund will sell a portion of its investee funds at an amount different from the NAV of the investment. The Company has the ability to liquidate its investments periodically depending on the provisions of the respective investee fund's offering documents

The investee funds in which the Company has invested utilize a variety of financial instruments in their trading strategies including equity and debt securities of both U.S. and foreign issuers, options, futures contracts, forward contracts and swap contracts, which may be denominated in various currencies. Several of these financial instruments contain varying degrees of off-balance sheet risk whereby changes in market values of the securities underlying the financial instruments may be in excess of the amounts recorded on each investee fund's balance sheet. However, due to the nature of the Company's interests in the investee funds, such risks are limited to the Company's capital balance in each investee fund.
